WIN- NING

Practice. To some it is a recurring injury, to a few it is the ecstasy of recognized effort, and to others it is a necessary evil. But to all it is 5 days of grueling, hard work for a 48 minute game.

Change. Change from the past few disastrous years for East football seemed on its way. A season that began weeks early with group conditioning was the first sign that things were on the move for the better. A new head coach, a switch from the age-old simple wing to a more versatile "T" formation; and most of all an air of optimism ran wild in a locker room that would have feared to enter in some preceding seasons. Within the season this important gain would all but be lost as defeat and the despair it created again found their places, reshuffled, but the same. For not even a tough athlete can face having his best efforts marked as failure.

AND LOSING

Football-merely a game? It is hard work; five days of practice in preparation for each encounter. It is yards of tape and elastic bandages giving support to injured ankles, knees and elbows-a musty smelling locker room-the heaviness of a perspiration soaked undershirt. It is the agony of playing with an injury, or, much worse, it is the agony of defeat. It is the body wracking pain of a torn cartilage or a broken bone. It is the hopelessness of a big linebacker trying to catch a fleet flanker-the beauty of a great broken field run-the violence of a trap block. It is the precision of a long pass. It is the frustration of missing the winning field goal or dropping a touchdown pass. It is the brotherhood shared by teammates and the respect shared by opponents. It is the taste of blood running from a split lip or a broken nose. It is the tenseness and nervousness of the pre-game wait in the locker room. It is the thrill of releasing that tension by charging out onto the field. It is the popping of pad against pad and the groaning of man against man. It is the satisfaction of beating your opponent, not by simply out-scoring him but by out-playing him. Football is desire, discipline, drive, it is indeed much more than a game.

Here's Stu again- Yea big jack Jew!

The varsity never wins; how do they expect us to?

RUNABOUT KNOWABOUT

O.K. Stay loose. Relax those arms. Keep the legs moving and don't forget to breathe. Yes breathe! DON'T FORGET TO BREATHE. Take it in and out. Regular. Suck it in, blow it out. This must be five miles instead of two. Are you tiring. No! Yes. Don't let that other man see just how tired you are. Fire it up.

THIS

IS GOLF

Is this golf? In the winter. Golf is this. Counting on a great season with a great new coach, but try to trace your ball's flight thru sixteen inches of snow. We sort of play around the course and watch each other. This is golf: a gentleman's game.

THE YEAR AFTER

The East High tennis team started out on a sour note. Many people who observed the matches saw that there was much room for improvement. There was no improvement. The team didn't care and the spectators didn't care.

walking
spring...

As the season wore on, the team seemed to play the matches for enjoyment rather than for victory, with the possible exception of one notorious player. The losses were generally not a disappointment, the failures were not disheartening, and the games were only games.

Labor is prior to and independent of capital. . Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. . Labor is the superior of capital, and man deserves much the higher consideration.

Abraham Lincoln, 1861

In the freedom seminar we attempted to clarify and resolve some of the contradictions which are limiting and giving the illusion of freedom in america. We have been taught to be told rather than to think, taught to take rather than share, taught to win and lose rather than move ahead together, taught to play the roles that society dictates. We tried to allow the class to be self directing, but since all selves have been appropriated there could be no direction. We tried to present reality and destroy illusion. America is revolting. What is needed are individual commitments to reclaim control of one's life, to struggle for the freedom of all peoples.

As Outward Bound intended, we were forced to confront our fears of the river, and in so doing
we learned to know ourselves a little better, and to know the river a lot better, and then to know each other as equals.

Most of all, the raft trips were fun! (Let's hit

East basketball is no longer the give and go to Lovato. It is a full-court attack put on by a fast, fluid group of accomplished athletes. A tight press that forces turnovers; a quick, shifty backcourt; a strong, ever-toughening forecourt; each is characteristic of a great team: this team. Every effort, assisted or individual, is funnelled into one force for a single cause: to win. Winning is what this team does best.

Tongue-tied

This year's Woodbury Contest will probably be remembered as the only other tie to date in the contest's 97th year.

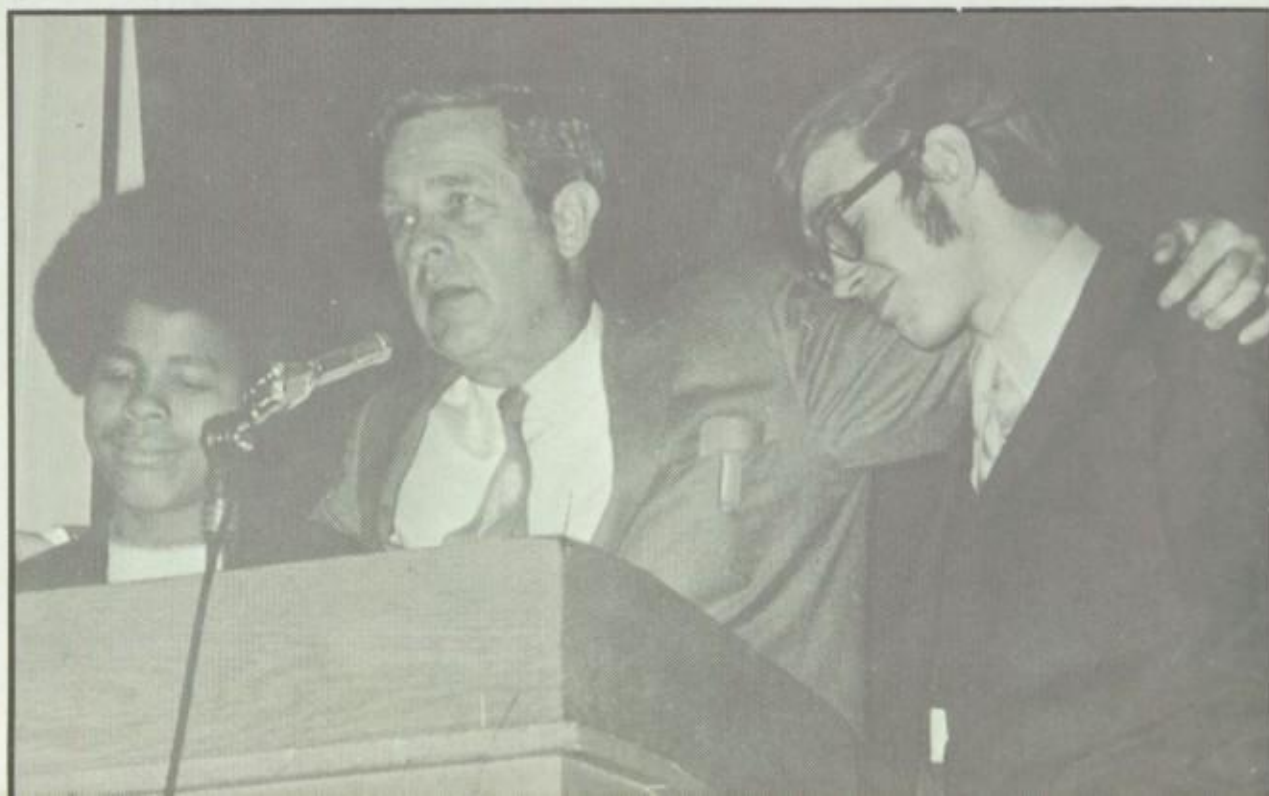

After much deliberation and a rather confused presentation, Ernest McKinney and Kent

Epperson were recognized as the winners. However credit must be given to the other six orators, Dan Dunn, Mike Parker, Kyle Davis, Marvin Grays, Vince Hardy, and Phil Goodstein, who put in a lot of time and hard work to make one of East's remaining traditions successful. Something should also be said for the audience, who was its usual crude self... thanks.

Eight young ladies, all equally eloquent in public speaking, vied for the Wolcott prize on February 19. A selection entitled "Robert" by Stanley Ellin was chosen for the girls to read. Each read for a period of five minutes, interpreting the story in her own way. Surprisingly enough, the audience was very attentive and gave the girls their full support. After much deliberation by the judges, Miss Dianne Randall was chosen as this year's winner. However, it was a tough decision, inasmuch as all the girls did a wonderful job. Standing: Jan Kline (alternate), Janis Jackson, Brenda Box, Debbie Brabson (alternate), Beth Long, Suzanne Reed. Sitting Betty Wytias, Gale Matthews, Margaret Schmuck, Dianne Randall.

Junior Classical League

The classical way of thinking is symmetrical, methodical, and orderly. This is the way the ancient Greeks and Romans thought. This year the Junior Classical League has continued with their traditional activities. In December they had the Io Saturnalia party, a festival celebrated by the ancient Romans, which turned out a birthday party because the bakery spelled "Io", "J-O" on the cake. They followed this up later with their annual Ides of March party and Roman Banquet.

Aufsteiger

Looking from the outside in, Aufsteiger is a group of individuals that go every other weekend to get experience in the techniques of hiking, cross-country skiing, mountain rescue, and rock climbing. Looking from the inside out, it is more. When a group of students socialize, live, depend upon, and barely tolerate each other, while undergoing physical hardships, the "true colors" of each person's character shows through. Members soon learn what society is all about and what to strive for; comradeship, peace of mind, trust, and perserverance.

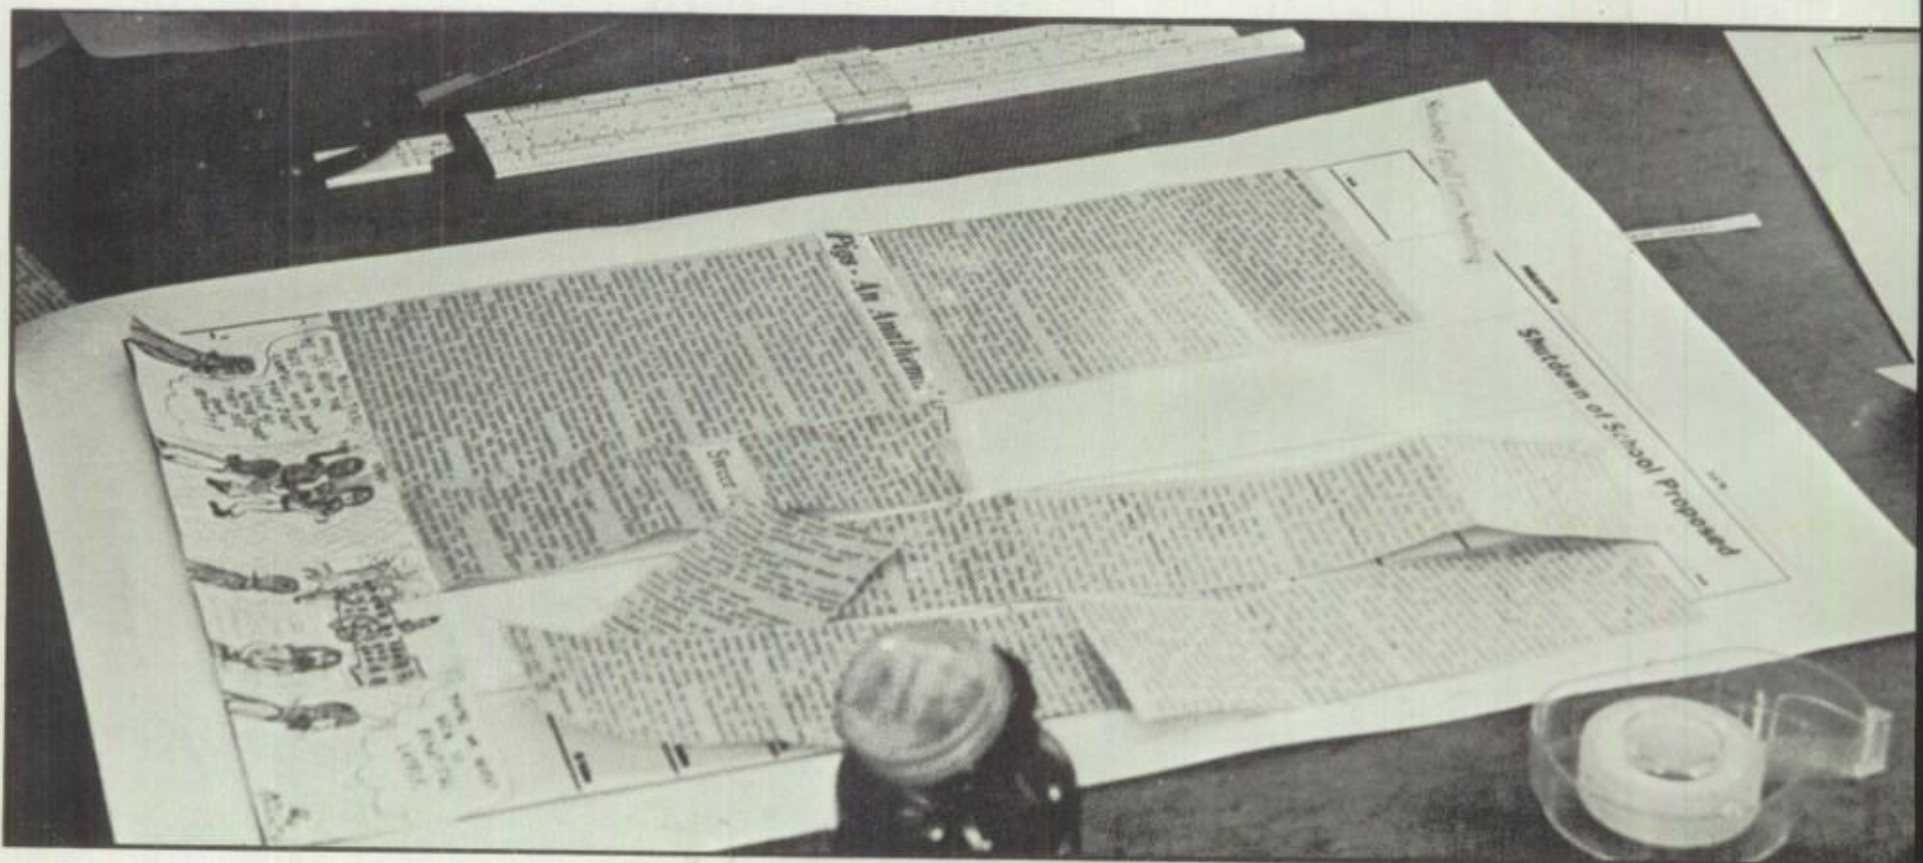

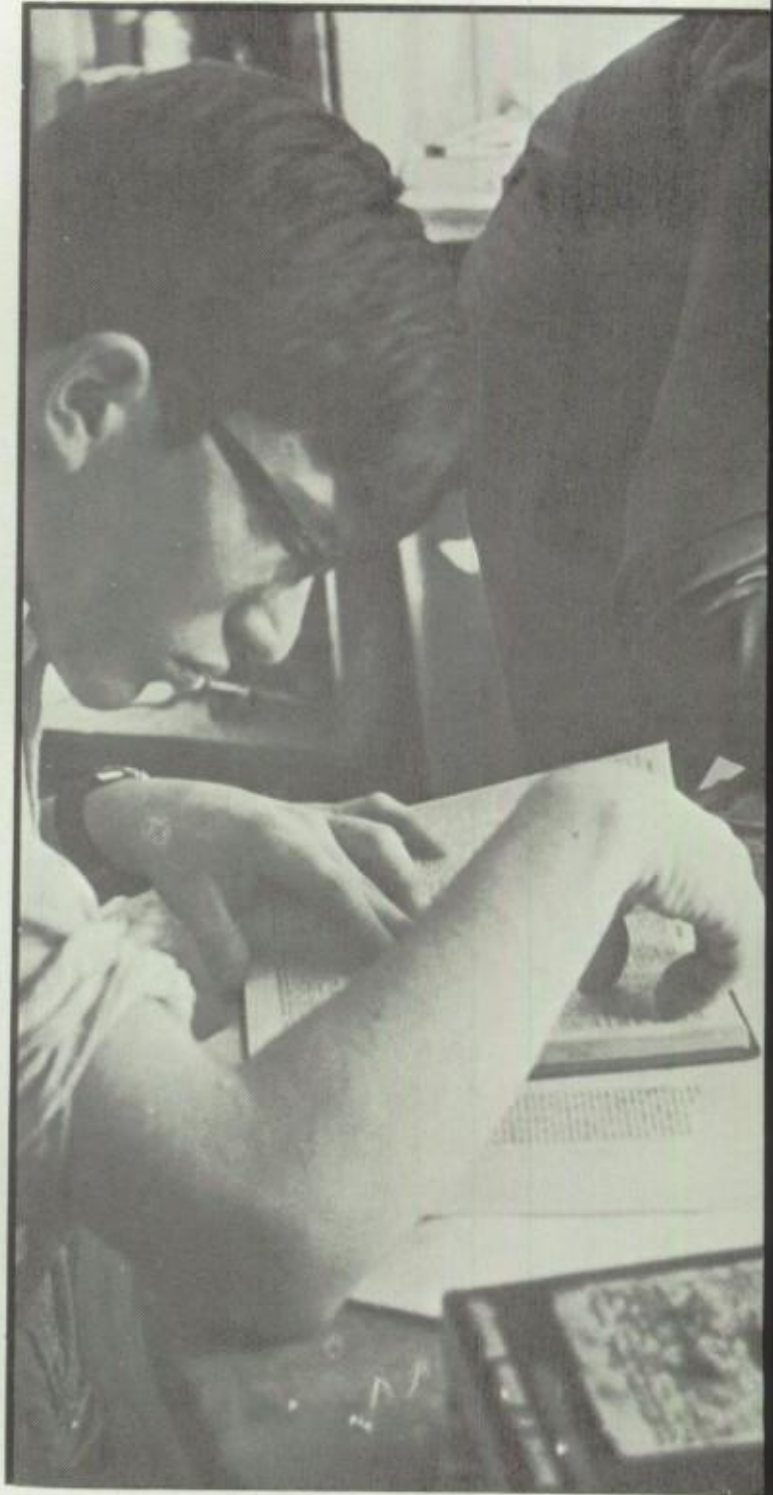

The purpose of the Key Club International is to serve the community. This is exactly what East's Key Club has not done. They have held three meetings, one banquet, and a football game during the entire school year. It seems as though the members were so involved with serving themselves that they didn't get around to the community.

It's 18 below - zero and you're crazy to be standing in the wind. Duck beneath the knoll and the sun is shining; a crisp January morning seems to turn your skis for you. The endless expanse of snow flies by quicker. This is no usual run! It's perfect - once in a season. The light is blinding. The snow - fast. Your skis - are sailing, gliding, carving a perfect turn then another. More and more and your body has a rhythm of its own. You had better yell, hoping someone will see. It's got to be erotic, it makes your body tingle.

LACROSSE

What makes Lacrosse so much fun? It is the body contact of man against man; the thrill of scoring a goal; the freeness of running. Just the relaxed attitude the team has: no special requirements, and no one is cut from the team. This sport is played for the fun of it. . .

Swing, Batter, Swing!

Last summer East's American Legion baseball team got a taste of something different. They won. In fact they won a city championship. All the way through the division and league play-offs the word through the grapevine was "East is lousy! Wait'll we get to them." With a team consisting of the same players and others, the '70 East team may be "lousy" enough to. . .

...the silence that surrounds a performing gymnast. He's talked, yelled, sworn, and struggled all week for the silence deserving of him at a meet. No rowdy crowd to cheer him on as in football. He's not a padded hero who just hears signals or sees only a line before him. The gymnast hears every cough or click of the camera. He doesn't have to hit a man harder or open a hole for a runner: what the gymnast must do is gracefully twist, support, catapult, and propel his body into a free-flowing quality of art in motion: something that is pleasing to the eye, especially the judge's. If his concentration is broken, it could mean the deduction of precious points for he is judged as if he were a piece of artwork on display. The judge is his critic and it is he who will rate him either good or flawless in style. He makes his last run or final cross and the routine is at last over. The over-bearing silence broken by applause is his to savor.

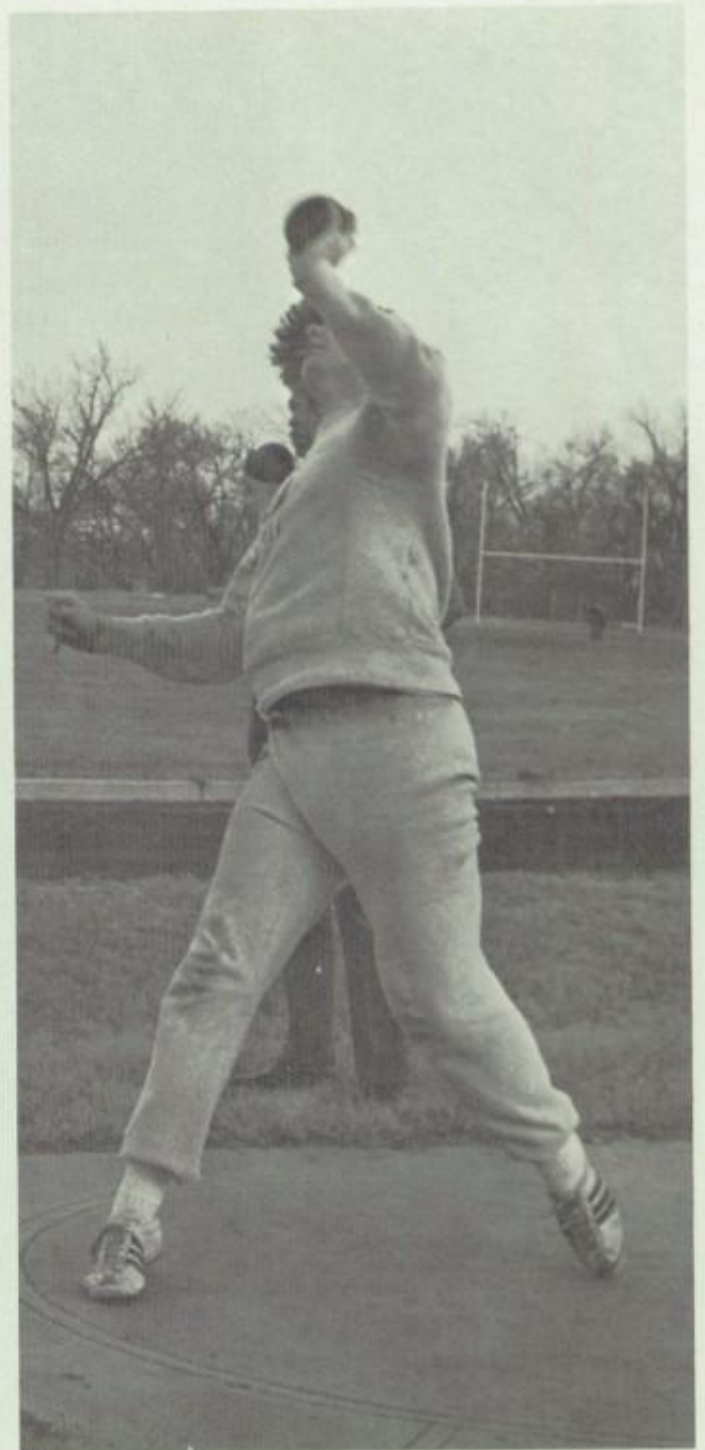

At East, the track is a testing site. Men launch their bodies into space and pump endless energy through their arms and legs for the thrill of human competition. Within the span of a second, a man must strain his muscles to press ahead of his nearest rival. It takes but a second for a vaulter to sail four inches higher; for a runner to increase his lead. This season, East trackmen used that second, split-seconds, to win instead of futilely hoping "well maybe."

East High School's sixteen member girls' swimming team combined work, enjoyment, friendship, and cooperation to complete a second successful season. Every swimmer reflected a personal pride in their own ability and contributed to the esteem of the East Angels.

The girls established two city records. One mark was set in the 100 yard Freestyle Relay and the other in the 50 yard Freestyle event. The jubilant relay team swimmers were Rosanne Horowitz, Karen McCoy, Janet Stonington, and Jane Franz. The individual event, the 50 yard freestyle record, is held by Rosanne Horowitz. Other team members Ann Benton, Cheryl Kitashima, and Betty Wytias, pulled East's City standing to a fine and recognizable position. The excitement and fun of this year has made the girls anxious for the 1970-71 season.

How do they feel? Many of the girls feel the tension at the starting block, remembering not to jump the gun, risking the chance of being disqualified. One of the girls said, "While running, I talk to myself to keep going." All in all, the best asset of the team is the great sportsmanship and spirit whether winning or losing.

Point Those

Toes . . .

How am I going to go on. . . ?
A girl is thinking this just before a meet. She's trying to remember what the coach told her, remember to keep poised, be graceful and keep those toes pointed. When she's finished her performance, she's relieved that it's over. Now comes the scores. What will they be, good or bad?

WORK FOR PEACE

Moratorium--an extending protest of the Vietnam War.

Students:

left school to rally and discuss the why of the war.

Or they stayed in class to protest the protest. Or they didn't care.

At East we discussed and had assemblies to present facts; as throughout the country the facts were being examined. The movement stood still; the question stayed the same: how long will the war last?

TO PUPILS:
No school today
Go home please and check
TV or radio for opening

WORK FOR POWER

The key to fine education today lives in imaginative and independent teachers. Worthy teachers cannot thrive without the ability to influence change in educational methods.

Public school administration has no time, or money, or room for immediate changes--Teachers suffer, students suffer, and education suffers. The DCTA strike was an attempt to gain teacher power, but a constant struggle is tiresome, and the problems outlived the strike.

A teacher's work is never done.

What makes them do it?

What makes a guy spend all of a Sunday polishing his shoes and brass? It's to love it or hate it.... to find out for yourself what part pride plays. Do you have it or do you really need it?

"I thought it would be an easy credit."

"I enjoy working with young men."

"I'm proud to be a member of a winning team!"

"I want an Army career."

"You don't have to be in ROTC to have pride in yourself."

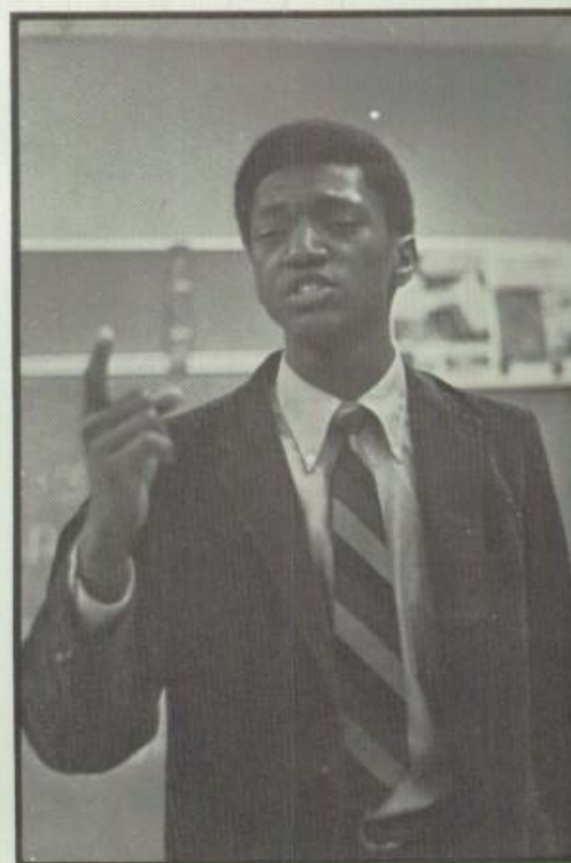

"ROTC teaches leadership, not killing."

Those who contemplate the beauty of the earth find reserves of strength that will endure as long lasts. There is symbolic as well as actual beauty in the migration of the birds, the ebb and flow of the tides, the folded bud ready for the spring. There is something infinitely healing in the repeated refrains of nature—the assurance that dawn come after night, and spring after the winter.

have yourself some pumpkin seeds

Mr. Schrant isn't like just any-old person you may have happened upon in your everyday school life, and he certainly isn't like any other teacher you've ever met. Before everything else, he's FRIENDLY. (How many FRIENDLY teachers do you know?) He has incredible enthusiasm about everything, and he makes time really to know everybody. (Doesn't sound like your typical, run-of-the-road teacher, does he?) His stay at East was only too short, and all but forgotten. He has now moved to a job where kids will probably appreciate his warmth and friendliness even more than they did here. But that doesn't mean he doesn't have time for you any more. Drop by and see him sometime---he may have some pumpkin seeds waiting.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with inherent and inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it and to institute new government laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

Declaration of Independence-1776

"Do not wish to be a student in contrast to being a man. Do not study as a student, but as a man who is alive and who cares. Leave the isolated world of ideological fantasy, allow your ideas to become part of your living and your living to become part of your ideas."

Tom Hayden--1962
